What is TEKScore?

TEKScore is a web-based program that allows districts to precode answer documents, scan, and score district-developed assessments. The program is compatible with both NCS and Scantron scanners. It can generate reports and graphs for data analysis throughout the school year.

What can I report?

Reports are available at the district, campus and teacher level. Campus reports are delivered in teacher or principal packets. Reports include (but are not limited to) item analysis, student test responses, TAKS/TEKS objective mastery report, TAKS/TEKS objective mastery graph, and TAKS/TEKS objective tutorial report, percent passing by ethnicity graph, and percent mastery charts.

Features

- Over 1.5 million documents have been scored in TEKScore during the 2006-2007 school year
- On average, over 8,000 documents are scanned in TEKScore each day
- Gives educators the ability to score and analyze TEKS-based assessments in order to benchmark student progress
- Ability to set custom mastery levels
- Full reporting capabilities by teacher, class, campus and district
- User-friendly search capabilities
- Import/Export capabilities
